

Greenhouse

Want to become an entrepreneur? Start with us today!

Got an idea? Climate-KIC offers a special pre-incubation programme, the Greenhouse, to starting entrepreneurs who have a climate business idea and the motivation to make it happen in the future – but are not fully ready yet. Whether your idea is not completely developed yet or you need some more time to perfect your already existing business plan, the Greenhouse programme is the place to be.

Added Value

Participants:

- are equipped with and utilise basic skills required to approach sustainable business creation in a transdisciplinary manner
- enhance their understanding of entrepreneurship and climate innovation in a semi-protected environment (within a safe test bed for early stage entrepreneurs)
- will utilise the Climate-KIC network to better understand the systemic challenges of climate relevant business

Successes

1. Progression to Climate-KIC Accelerator programme
2. Additional funding from external schemes and competitions
3. Young enterprise generating local media interest

Who can apply

Our pre-incubation candidates come from a broad spectrum of interdisciplinary backgrounds. We are accepting both students and professionals and offer equal opportunities to all nationalities, gender and age groups.

For us, your idea and the right motivation is what counts. Since it is a preincubation stage, applicants should hold a job or study. Please be aware that projects with two or more team members are preferred.
